Quietly Marks
85th Birthday

Public Schools Inspector, Ill For Some Weeks, Shows Improvement

Brampton, April 16 (Staff Special) —W. J. Galbraith, many years inspector of public schools in Peel County, celebrated his 85th birthday quietly at his home on Chapel street, Saturday. Mr. Galbraith, in poor health for some weeks past, has rallied with the coming of warmer weather, and is rapidly on the way to recovery. On Saturday he received a few of his friends of the town and county, and cheerfully accepted their congratulations.

Mr. Galbraith was born near Dunbarton, Ont., son of the late John Galbraith. After obtaining the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, and later, Master of Arts, he took up the profession of tuition. He taught at Palmerston, at Hanover, in Halton County and in Oakville. At Hanover he was principal for four years.

In Streetsville High School, Mr. Galbraith was assistant master prior to his appointment to the staff of the Brampton High School, where he was assistant master in charge of moderns for 20 years. Leaving Brampton to take charge of Newcastle High School as principal, he was recalled to Peel County to become the inspector of public schools.

He and Mrs. Galbraith have been residents of Brampton for some 45 years. They were married at St. Jude's, Church of England, Oakville, in 1877, by the Rev. Canon Worrell. Mrs. Galbraith is still an active member of the Peel Regiment Chapter, I.O.D.E., and Queen Alexandra L.O.B.A., Brampton, and both have taken prominent parts in the activities of Christ Church, Church of England.

They have two daughters, Miss Isabel, Brampton, who was overseas during the war, and who is the present school nurse of Peel County, and Miss Ethel, Toronto, and a son, Scott, Brampton, member of the executive of the Brampton Excelsiors' Lacrosse Club.

PROMINENT RESIDENTS MARRIED 55 YEARS AGO

Anniversary Quietly Marked By
Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith
On Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith, residents of Brampton for nearly half a century, quietly observed their 55th wedding anniversary on Tuesday. Mrs. Galbraith, who had the misfortune to slip and fall during the day, while not injured, was forced to complete rest and thus had to accept congratulations while confined to her bed.

Mr. Galbraith was born at Bowmanville 83 years ago. He has the degrees of B.A. and M.A. from Queen's University, taught school at Halton, Palmerston, Hanover and in Oakville. He was assistant master in charge of the moderns classes for twenty years. He went to Newcastle High School as their principal and later resigned on his appointment as inspector for Peel County, a position he held for almost twenty years. He filled the position with honor to himself and great advantage to the county and during his inspectorate schools costing $150,000 were erected.

Mrs. Galbraith, 81, was born in Scotland, coming to Halton County when a baby. She was formerly Miss Margaret Scott. For many years she resided in Oakville and was a soloist in St. Jude's choir. Mrs. Galbraith is prominently connected with Brampton Chapter, I.O.D.E., and Queen Alexandra L.O.B.A. and last Friday walked with Crystal Chapter, L.O.B.A., Toronto. During the distressing days of the world war she was a friend to the soldiers overseas, working assiduously in their behalf. Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith are members of Christ Anglican Church.

Residents of this town for nearly 45 years, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith very quietly observed their 55th wedding anniversary Monday, though unfortunately, Mrs. Galbraith received congratulations from her bed. During the day she suffered a fall and while not seriously injured, the shock necessitated a complete rest for a few days.

Mr. Galbraith is eighty-three, was born at Bowmanville, has the degrees of B.A. and M.A. from Queen's University, taught school at Halton, Palmerston, Hanover and in Oakville. He was assistant master in Streetsville High school, coming from that village to this town to take a position on the Brampton High school staff, where he was assistant master in charge of the moderns classes for twenty years. He went to Newcastle High school as their principal and later resigned on his appointment as inspector for Peel county, a position he held for almost twenty years. He filled this position with honor to himself and great advantage to the county and during his inspectorate schools costing nearly $150,000 were erected.

Mrs. Galbraith, eighty-one, was born in Scotland, coming to Halton county when a baby. She was formerly Miss Margaret Scott. For many years she resided in Oakville and was a soloist in St. Jude's choir. Mrs. Galbraith is prominently connected with Brampton Chapter, I.O.D.E., and Queen Alexandra L.O.B.A. and last Friday walked with Crystal Chapter, L.O.B.A., Toronto. For the past forty years Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith have been residents, of Brampton, and during that long period have been outstanding residents, the Inspector by ~~ransom~~ reason of his long association with the staff of Brampton High School and his association for a period ~~of time~~ almost as long with the teachers of Brampton and through his position as inspector of the county. Mrs. Galbraith has been equally prominent by association with various reasons of her organizations, both in Christ Church and in the town...

On Monday, August 15th, 1877, at St. Judas^e Church, Oakville, Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith were married by then incumbent, Rev. Cannon Worrell.

On Monday of this week, August 15th, with many old friends from distant places and scores from the town and county, they celebrated the 50th anniversary of the happy event....The bride^smaid, Mrs. Campion, sister of Mr. Galbraith, now a resident of Vancouver, and the best man, Mr. Christy Armstrong, were present. Miss Isabel Wilson, neice of Mrs. Galbraith, who was flower girl at the wedding, was among Monday's guests, also Mrs. Street, Oakville,, and Mrs. Applebee, Toronto, who were at the marriage 50 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith and their family, Miss Isabell, Miss Ethel and Mr. Scott received the guests at the entrance to the drawing room.....

The County Council attended the reception in the evening in a body. Mr. Galbraith's colleagues at the courthouse presented him with a purse filled with gold coins, one from each of the men with whom he is most closely associated in daily life.

Mrs. Galbraith was born in Scotland 76 years ago, coming to Halton County when one year of age. She was formerly Miss Maggie Scott, and was well known in Oakville as a member of St. Jude's Choir and as a singer of note in other places....

She was formerly president of the Womans's Auxilliary of Christ Church, formed the junior auxilliary, is at present honorary president of the auxilliary and is an officer in the Chancel Guild of that Church. Years ago she organized a ladies' euchre club, which sent scores of parcels and comforts overseas to Brampton's soldiers. Mrs. Galbraith is immediate past regent of the Peel Regiment Chapter of the I.O.D.E., senior member of the committee of the Queen Alexandra L.O.B.A., and an associate member of the Brampton Ladies' Bowling Club.

Mr. Galbraith B.A. M.A. taught at Palmerston, Hanover and in Strathville High School, then to Brampton for 20 years, finally to Newcastle
 It is unique in Mr Galbraith's case that nearly one H.S. as dozen schools, costing upwards of $60,000 to $150,000, principle, have been erected in his inspectorate during his regime. resigning to become inspector of Peel. He has held this post for 18 years.

He is chairman of the Peel County School Nurse Association, takes a very active interest in rural school fairs, and finds relaxation in bowling.

Miss Isabell Galbraith was overseas as a nurse during two and one-half years of the war, and it is at present engaged as school nurse in the County of Peel.

Have Been Married Fifty-Eight Years

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith
Are Highly Esteemed
Residents of Town

Spending a few holidays at Port Hope, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith, of Brampton, on Friday quietly celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary. They were married in St. Jude's Anglican Church, Oakville, by the Rev. Canon Worrell, in 1877. After teaching in schools at Hanover, Oakville, Palmerston, Streetsville, Newcastle and Brampton, Mr. Galbraith became public school inspector of Peel county and settled in Brampton, where he and Mrs. Galbraith have been residents for more than forty-five years.

Mr. Galbraith during his teaching career was assistant master of the old Brampton high school, which was later burned to the ground. He spent that time as teacher of moderns. On his retirement from the inspectorship he continued his interest in Peel schools, however, and was used as a source of information by municipal authorities, who relied on his memory of precedent.

Mrs. Galbraith was one of the first regents of the Peel Regiment Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and was also a leader in the organization of Queen Alexandra L.O.B.A. Both Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith have been active in Christ Anglican Church, Brampton. They have two daughters, Miss Isabel, Brampton, present school nurse of Peel County, who served in the Great War as a nurse, and Miss Ethel, Toronto, and one son, Scott, of Brampton, who has been an executive of many Brampton athletic organizations.

GALBRAITH: This town was deeply shocked yesterday to learn of the death of Miss Isabel Galbraith at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith, Chapel street. She had been ill for over a year. Miss Galbraith was a nurse of the Peel Medical Inspection Association, and a nursing sister in the Great War. Miss Galbraith was born in Hanover, Ontario, and came with her parents to Brampton as a child. She was educated in the Brampton public and high schools and taught school in Sutton, Brampton and North Toronto for some years before going to New York to enter training for the nursing profession. Miss Galbraith graduated from the New York General Hospital. After several years' private nursing in the United States and Canada, she went overseas, and served for three years in the Orpington Hospital in England, and in several of the French hospitals. Returning to Brampton, she again took up private nursing until she was engaged as the school nurse for a group of Peel county schools, which post she held until her illness about a year ago compelled her to give it up. Miss Galbraith was a member of the Church of England, the Major W. D. Sharpe Post of the Canadian Legion, the Peel Regiment Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, and of the Canadian Nursing Association. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith, a sister, Miss Ethel Galbraith, of Toronto, and a brother, Scott, in town. The funeral will be held Friday, with interment in the Brampton cemetery.
